

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A gaming machine includes: a variable display means for producing variable display of a plurality of symbols; a front display means being provided in front of the variable display
5 means for enabling a player to see symbols on the variable display means through the front display means, the front display means being capable of displaying various images; and a display scaling means for making it possible to scale up or down display on the front display means and/or the variable display means.